Blue Ridge Community College is partnering with Continental Automotive Systems and other local manufacturers to get prospective employees on the road to high skills and competitive pay. The Advanced Manufacturing Fundamentals Course is the pathway to this exciting opportunity for employment in our area. This intensive short course begins November 30 and ends December 14, meeting from 5 to 9 p.m. each evening. Students will learn the business of manufacturing, lean concepts, safety, team work, critical thinking skills, mathematics and manufacturing process flow. They will also prepare for the required Continental Teves assessments, review interviewing skills, and update resumes in preparation for job interviews. Registration fee is $121.30 and scholarships are available for those who qualify! For more information or to register for the course, contact Monique Eaker at (828) 694-1744.

The annual faculty art show begins tomorrow. The show will be open on weekdays from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. until December 11 in the Blue Ridge Conference Hall. Faculty highlighted includes Aaron Bernard, Brian Glaze, Anne Haydock, Barbara Nussdorfer-Eblen, Kevin Palme, David Sheldon, Richard Sykes, Charlotte Taylor, and Robert Wallace. There is no admission fee.

The final showing of the drama programs fall production Buried Child is today. Come see this Pulitzer Prize winning play by Sam Shepherd at 2:30 p.m. today. Tickets are $7 and can be purchased at the door. More information about the play and its cast and crew are available at www.brccburiiedchild.com.

Blue Ridge Community College administrative offices will close at 3 p.m. on Wednesday, November 24 and reopen for normal operation on Monday, November 29 in observance of Thanksgiving.
